Offer of a wrought Tabor-Handgonne

I'm offering you a copy of a Tabor-handgonne, wrought the same way as the original was, which was found in Tabor, Czechia. This has probably once been used in the Hussite wars (1419 – 1434).

It comes with a stock of oak wood, ramrod, bullet extractor and a match holder.

This for the total amount of SFr. 550.- (Swiss Franks), economy-shipping included.

How to order a gone: If you'd like to order a gone or need additional information then at first go and send me an e-mail. After all details are settled such as the necessary documents your customs and/or police needs, then send the due amount via your bank to my bank-account, which is:

St. Gallische Kantonalbank
Branch Altstaetten
IBAN# CH88 0078 1111 0003 6170 0
BIC# KBSGCH22XXX

As soon as I'm informed by my bank that your payment has arrived, I will ship your gone without delay by Swiss economy mail. Usually I have some gones in stock. To overseas countries there are about two weeks of patience required.

And note:

Switzerland doesn't know a proving office. So all Swiss arms are sold unproved by your standards (save USA). The proving here is up to the manufacturer! (product liability). So your gone will come with my personal proving mark and my proving report. If your country doesn't accept this, then you'll have to prove your gone by your official governmental proving office.

And note, most countries request serial numbers. To avoid disfiguring my handgones by blunt numerals, all my gones come hallmarked with contemporary gothic serial numbers.

And then there are countries with customs-regulations not accepting an unproved arm crossing the border (Germany and England e.g.). Then we will mail the gone without a drilled touch hole and unproved. (This is considered a wrought iron pipe only, and not an arm) . But the drilling and proving will then be up to you.

Best regards,

your blacksmith
